2 READ WITH A PEN

This book is yours, so make it yours! Neatly highlight/underline the things that relate to the following questions/prompts (listed on the back of the bookmark) and anything else that stands out to you.

Suggestion: use a different color for each question.

Throughout the book, write down topics and questions that you would want to talk about.

1 DO THIS...

For each part of the book (Parts I, II, and III), mark what stands out as the most powerful pieces (persons, quotes, etc.). In the book, make a note about why these pieces stand out to you.

AND THIS...

2

As you read, mark the specific actions that Rachel Muha (and others) have taken over the years to support a community in need. Think about how you might help with different communities' needs in your life.

3 AND THIS.

Each chapter of the book starts with a quote from the Bible. Mark at least three quotes (minimum one from each Part) that you find meaningful and why. Note where the Bible quote applies in the chapter.

Be sure to complete your work by Sept. 2. During the first quarter of the school year we will review these topics together.
